

PHONOGRAPHY

Truth is mighty and will prevail.

The Spelling Reform.

PHONOGRAPHY is a rational system of spelling words as they are pronounced, by employing an enlarged alphabet containing a separate letter for each sound, by which means the draught or learning the spelling is entirely dispensed with, and learning the read is accomplished in wondrously short time.

"The children you exhibited had certainly made wonderful proficiency; and were in several of the essentials of good enunciation and reading, years in advance of most children taught in the old way."

HORACE MANN.

The Writing Reform.

PHONOGRAPHY is a truly philosophical method of writing the English language, with an Alphabet composed of the simplest geometrical signs, which accurately represent the sounds of spoken words. It may be written six times as fast as the ordinary longhand, and is equally as legible; and such is the simplicity of the art that its principles may be mastered in a few weeks, even without the aid of a teacher.

"We regard Phonography as one of the most important inventions of the age."—FOWLER & WELLS.

"Had this art been known forty years ago, it would have saved me twenty years of hard labor."—THOMAS BENTON.

PHONOGRAPHY.

PHONOGRAPHY is the art of writing by sound. It is as legible as the common long hand, and can be written six times as fast. It may be learned in a few months, and at once introduced into the business of life. To persons who have writing to do, it is a great labor-saving art, enabling them to write in one hour that which would require six hours in the common hand, in one day that which would require six days, in one month that which would require six months, and in one year that which would require six years.

To Persons who do not understand PHONOGRAPHY.

By enclosing one dollar in a letter, and directing it to FOWLER AND WELLS, No. 131 Nassau street, New York, you will receive, by return of mail, aids from which you can acquire a thorough knowledge of Phonography, without oral or other instruction.
